

5 Things you need to know about Corry

Who are we?

AviTech is a British-Israeli business providing consulting and technological development services to thousands of clients across different markets and industry sectors.

With 18 years' experience of developing software systems for computers and mobile phones, our team incorporates dozens of talented engineers, software developers and designers. So if you're setting up a new venture, we've got all your tech needs covered.

We've also devised and developed an innovative app, and this highly popular, successful online tool is protected by various patents and copyrights across the world.

Meet

CorrBuilder-

small app that's making a big difference to the way lawyers work

Corrbuilder scans and organises email and chat-system correspondence before converting it into a single, clearly designed document. It also allows you to highlight any keywords you want in the document. What's more, it's quick, so you can create the perfect court-ready document in seconds.

Between 2022-2023, we broke all records with over 120,000 downloads!

- Meets all GDPR security and privacy criteria
- Tested and approved with a special license from Google
- No downloading or installation needed
- Access any time anywhere, from any device
- User-friendly – simple and quick
- No registration or account opening is required

Global Distribution Model

At AviTech, we're now looking for local distributors to sell our app worldwide, and earn a potential monthly income of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

You will have an exclusive distribution licence and will work with you under a long-term agreement; plus you will have our full support and cooperation at all times.

3 The Target Markets

"In any social or business interaction, there is a potential for conflict which requires the intervention of lawyers and courts."

The reality is that human beings are always in dispute with each other, whether that's a conflict between individuals, an individual and a corporation, or citizens or a corporation taking on a state.

The facts speak for themselves:

Fact A

Every month, five million court hearings dealing with civil disputes worldwide

Fact B

Most hearings in civil courts are evidence-based and depend on email or online chat correspondence

Our target market

We work with any individual or organisation that communicates with others and needs to document and store their communications with others.

So our client base is in sectors making extensive use of documentation, including:

Universities

Insurance

Lawyers

Municipal offices

Museums

Corporations of Water/ Electricity/ Gas

Government offices

CPA offices

Architects

Hospitals

Banks and investment institutes

The business models

Corry suits numerous, varied sectors so it's versatile and adaptable to different market, cultures and industry sectors.

It works as follows:

A private customer (B2C) pays every time they produce a document

Small and medium-sized businesses (B2B) pay according to the number of documents they have and which features they use – prices range from $20 to $2,000 monthly

Large corporations (B2E customers) can buy a white label licence including private installation with the corporation's secure servers. This can cost hundreds of thousands of dollars as a one-off sale.

Type	B2E	B2B	B2C
Sales model	White Label	Packages	Single PDF
Price range	$100K +	$100- $2,000	$10- $50
Payment	One-time	monthly	One-time

Our coupon system

This is another business model. We've also developed a smart-coupon solution allowing us to share revenue with law firms. This allows lawyers to distribute coupons for using the app among their clients, offering them a discount. This generates a profit for lawyers at the same time.
